DEMOCRATS FIGHT TO DRAW

About as Much Harmony in Mass Convention as in German Brass Band.

COMMITTEEMEN ELECTION

John Megee Rises up and Says if There's a Slate He's Going to Break It.

The Democratic mass convention held at the Hendricks club rooms this afternoon for the purpose of selecting precinct committeemen from Rushville township was about as harmonious as a ten piece German band with every piece playing a different tune. Samuel Trabue was elected chairman of the meeting and John Morris, secretary.

The preliminaries went off in a very smooth manner, but the trouble started over the manner in which to elect the committeemen from the ten precincts of the township. The original motion was to let each precinct nominate its committeemen and then have the convention as a whole elect the ten men. This caused a storm of protest as some were in favor of each precinct electing its own committeemen and not allowing the other precincts to have a voice in their selection.

To complicate matters a third plan was put before the convention. This was for the chairman to name a committee which would name the ten candidates and let the convention approve or disprove their choice. John D. Megee was in favor of letting each precinct elect its own men as he stated it was simply a case of local self-government. Mr. Megee stated that if any slate had been formed he was there to break it.

Lieut. Gov. Hall replied to Mr. Megee and stated if there was a slate formed he did not know of it and was in favor of voting on all ten men at once. Anthony Schrichte was also in favor of this. The original motion was patched with amendment after amendment and the convention was at a standstill with everyone trying to express his opinion on the question. It was finally brought to a vote.

At first an "aye" and "nay" vote was taken, but this was impossible. On ballot the motion to let each precinct nominate its committeemen and let the entire convention vote carried by 60 to 57.

After this had carried Mr. Megee moved that each precinct elect the committeemen as they were nominated. This caused a storm of protest. The chair ruled this out of order as he said the vote decided this point. Mr. Megee took an appeal from the chair, but lost. As each precinct was called the chairman gave the boundaries of the precinct and the men were nominated. If there was a slate in the field it was evidently well cancelled.

APPOINTMENT CONFIRMED.

Mrs. Herman Tompkins, who recently moved from here to the Pecos valley in New Mexico, has been appointed postmistress at Orchard Park, according to a bulletin received at the local postoffice. It will be remembered it was announced some time ago Mrs. Tompkins had been recommended but the appointment had not been confirmed.

28 DOZEN FRESH UNS.

FOR ORPHANS AND WIDOWS

E. H. Payne, Member Masonic Committee to Rush Home Work.

The Masonic lodge of Indiana plans to build a home for its widows and orphans as other fraternal orders have done in Indiana and other States. Each lodge will be requested to donate for the proposed structure and a local committee from Phoenix lodge No. 62 has been appointed to carry on the work among the local Masons. Earl H. Payne of this city has been appointed as a member of the committee from the Grand lodge of Indiana to have charge of pushing the orphans' and widows home work.

ED. CARTER WINS SECOND POOL GAME

Defeats George Monjar in City Tournament by the Score of 100 to 87.

MAKES HIGH RUN OF FOURTEEN

Ed Carter defeated George Monjar last night in the second game of the city pool championship tournament at the Demmer pool room. Monjar was defeated by a margin of thirteen points, the final score being 100 to 87. The crowd was as large if not larger than that which attended the opening contest. The game last night was closer than the one on the previous evening and the contestants were tied at several different stages. The high run was fourteen balls made by Carter in the last inning. The game ended in a sensational manner. The score was 87 to 86 in favor of Monjar and Carter ran out his string of 100 in an unfinished run of 14. The pool tournament is attracting considerable interest among the pool and billiard "fans" of the city. The third game of the tournament will be played tonight between Bert Osborne and Al Linville. Play is started each night at 8 o'clock.

LEWISVILLE WANTS ANOTHER ROUTE

It is Argued This Would Help Faulty Mail Facilities in Vicinity of Raleigh.

COMPLAINTS BEFORE THIS

The Lewisville Road Traveler be another rural route from Lewisville would help Raleigh mail facilities according to the following:

Three years ago this winter a petition was freely signed which asked for a change in the mail facilities afforded Raleigh citizens. The petition was honored and a government inspector sent here to learn the situation. The inspector hurriedly leaves another rural route from Lewisville viewing several people near Mays, who of course were well satisfied with prevailing conditions. His report indicated that all patrons were well pleased, and this report of course did not inform the postoffice department of the real situation.

It was not then, and is not now the intention of the dissatisfied patrons to wipe the Mays route off the slate. They wish Mays to retain the route, but they do ask a new route from Lewisville that they may receive a daily paper at least a day or so after it is published. A route from Lewisville is the best and only solution of the present tangled state of affairs.

CAN'T HOLD UP CANDIDATE NOW

Campaign Cigars, Watermelon and Ice Cream Festivals Are Barred, According to T. M. Honan.

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINION

Corrupt Practices Act Spells Discomfiture For Campaign "Moocher."

In an unofficial opinion given to Alrah J. Rucker, an Indianapolis attorney, Thomas M. Honan, attorney general, has thrown the mantle of protection about the candidate and has spelled discomfiture for the campaign "moocher." The letter is in answer to a number of questions concerning the corrupt practice act of the recent general assembly as concerns expenditures of money common to campaigns under the old order of things.

According to the interpretations by the attorney general the campaign cigar and campaign beer party of the past, to say nothing of watermelons, ice cream and candy, have no place in the campaign carried on under the provisions of the new act. Likewise the practice of church organizations, women's clubs, "social" clubs formed for campaign "holdup" purposes with the candidates as the victims, are to be things of the past if the candidates observe the provision of the act.

Much of the material in the letter to Mr. Rucker is quoted from the text of the act, and was set out by the attorney general in a special pamphlet prepared by the attorney general for distribution by the governor. But the questions are answered in detail. Many of the questions had to do with the expenditures by candidates for vehicles for voters, the employment of workers in wards and precincts, etc. In effect, the attorney general held vehicles can be supplied only for the sick or infirm voter and that the candidate may employ men to do for him in the wards and precincts what he himself would be permitted to do in person.

But the candidate can not delegate to the ward or precinct worker any power not expressly allowed himself by the provisions of the act. It was further held that, where a "slate" is formed of candidates in a primary, the "slate" is a political organization within the meaning of the act, and that such an organization must pay its expenses through a duly appointed and accredited agent.

Specifically, the attorney general held the following: A candidate may not spend money for beer, other intoxicants or cigars, or any other kind of refreshments, either for voters, for meetings of committeemen, or other gatherings of political workers, and he may not, in a saloon or other place "set 'em up to" cigars, drinks or other things delightful to the campaign binger on; the law provides that any person who may solicit anything of value from a candidate or his agent in return for political influence, whether the thing solicited is or is not given, is liable to punishment under the law; the purchase of tickets to entertainments, shares of stock, contributions to "worthy causes" or to building and other funds, when it might be construed the purchase of contribution was for the purpose of affecting votes is prohibited; a committee may not assess a candidate for primary or election purposes.

In an opinion to Bernard Korbly, Democratic State chairman Mr. Honan has held the treasurer of a county political organization may not spend money for the purpose of voting a practice which has been common in the past.

CLUB CONCERT GREAT SUCCESS

Methodist Church Clears Approximately $50 on Entertainment For Missionary's Benefit.

WILL BE SENT TO MISS MUIRE

Reader Scores Hit While Club Wins Hearty Applause With Ensemble Numbers.

The DePauw University glee club played to possibly the largest audience in the St. Paul M. E. church last night that ever attended a college glee club concert in Rushville. The crowd filled the main auditorium of the church to capacity, and it made glad the hearts of those who arranged the concert for the benefit of Miss Winnifred Muire, a missionary in China.

It was estimated today that approximately fifty dollars had been cleared on the entertainment by the church, all of which will be sent to Miss Muire in China. The church guaranteed the club forty dollars to appear here. The business had not all been finished today and it was impossible to tell how much money had been cleared.

The glee club concert was not without much merit and practically every number won hearty applause from the large audience. Especially deserving of mention is the reader, Earl C. Gutheridge, who entertained with unusual ability. He had a very pleasing stage presence and winning manner of getting in touch with the audience. He was probably more heartily urged to return with an encore at the close of each selection, than was any other member or group of members of the club.

"A Little Peach" by Neidlinger, in which the club had an opportunity to insert a little comedy, was the best of the first group of songs. "An Irish Melody," the composer of which is unknown according to the program, was loudly applauded and the club responded with an encore. Paul Benedict played the air on a violin while the club hummed the tune. The effect was pleasing.

Paul Benedict supplied as violin soloist the place of Prof. J. H. Barnum, who is the regular violinist, but who was called back to school. He was forced to come back for a second number after he had played a solo.

Earl C. Gutheridge, the reader, created a better impression with his readings than did any number. He was far above the average. Mr. Gutheridge gave a Jew's impressions of a football game in excellent style and was applauded loudly and long. Among his best readings which followed was the most ungrammatical love poem ever written.

Although "Doan' You Cry Ma Honey" has been sung here by college glee clubs before it was easily the best of the next group of three songs rendered by the club. Ralph Cook sang the air while the club hummed the tune. The lights in the auditorium were turned off, and when the song was finished and the lights turned on, most people were rubbing their eyes, as if they had been hummed to sleep.

Mr. Benedict played two solos on the violin after Mr. Cook responded alone to the encore for the club and sang "My Rosary." Mr. Benedict's work was appreciated as was revealed by the prolonged hand clapping after he had finished.

"An Act From Grand Opera Up To Date" furnished more amusement than anything else on the program. Mr. and Mrs. Tyler, played by Clayton R. Plank and Robin W. Irvin, opened the grand opera act with repeating in various ways, always singing, that they smelled smoke. The club represented a chorus of flat residents and the part of the janitor, who came to announce to his inhabitants that the house was on fire after they had been singing of the fire and their plans to escape for fully ten minutes, was played by Theodore D. McCreery.

The act was very well interpreted by the club. It was written originally by George as a burlesque on grand opera. It is intended to show the foolishness of grand opera when the same words are repeated over and over by the soloists only the words being set to different notes each time.

RICHMOND IS VERY CONFIDENT

High School Five Expects to Take Game From Local Quintet There Tonight.

CURTAIN RAISER TO BIG GAME

The Rushville high school basketball five left this afternoon for Richmond where they will play the high school five of that city tonight. The game will be a curtain-raiser to the Indiana-Earlim game. If Richmond wins she will be in the lead of the Sixth district league. The local five is anxious to keep Richmond out of the front row and is intent on putting up the best game of its career. The Richmond quintet is confident of winning as the following from the Richmond Palladium indicates:

As a curtain-raiser, the Richmond high school team will play the Rushville five. This game, which will start at 7:30 o'clock will be a championship game, and the local lads will do everything in their power to win the laurels. Schepman, captain of the local team is confident of victory and he says if his men play up to expectation Richmond will come out victorious. Schepman is one of the best basketball players the Richmond school boasts of, and to his generalship is due the fact that Shelbyville high school went down to defeat at the hands of the local team last Saturday night on the Y. M. C. A. floor.

ARRANGES FOR HIS OWN FUNERAL

MOTHER AND WIFE AFFLICTED

Much has been written of late concerning the misfortunes which have befallen the family of Ephriam Redinbaugh of Blue Ridge. He is himself near death with lung trouble, his aged mother is in a serious condition from an attack of pneumonia and his wife has been suffering with heart trouble.

It has become known that Mr. Redinbaugh summoned the members of his family to his bedside one day recently and stated his wishes in regard to his funeral services and his burial. Members of his family expect to carry out definitely the arrangements as made by him.

Redinbaugh is only thirty-eight years of age. He was afflicted with lung trouble and went to Colorado for a change of climate. The change did not prove beneficial and he returned home worse than he was when he left. Recently he was compelled to remain in bed and it is said that his death is only a matter of a few hours.

HORSE AND AUTO OWNER IN COURT

Luther Caldwell Wants $200 Damages For Horse Fatally Injured by J. M. Gwinn's Machine.

CASE GOES TO JURY AT 3:15

Some Controversy Over Age of Animal and Rate of Speed at Which Auto Traveled.

A horse owner and an automobile owner battled for supremacy in the circuit court today. Luther Caldwell, living west of Rushville, wanted $200 for the loss of a horse, the death of which was the result of an accident when J. M. Gwinn ran his automobile into the animal and broke its leg. There was some controversy over the value of the horse, and a discrepancy noted in the valuation placed on it by different witnesses. The speed of the machine was estimated from 6 to 25 miles an hour. The jury got the case at 3:15 o'clock.

The Caldwell-Gwinn suit was the first one tried before a jury this term. The case was opened when court convened and the attorneys for the plaintiff, Watson, Titsworth & Green and for the defendant, J. T. Arbuckle, made their opening statements before the jury.

Mr. Caldwell asks $200 for the loss of a work horse which, it is alleged, was hit by an automobile driven by Mr. Gwinn March 21, 1911, when the machine was driven past the team on the Arlington pike near Berry Osborne's house two and a half miles west of the city, while both the team and the auto was going east. Mr. Caldwell was riding one horse and leading the one which was hurt.

The attorney for the plaintiff stated that the plaintiff would attempt to show that it was the fault of the auto driver that the horse was fatally injured. He also stated that it would be attempted to prove that the horse was worth at least $125.

It was gleaned from Mr. Caldwell's testimony, who was the first witness for the plaintiff, that the animal's right hind leg was broken about eight inches above the ground, which rendered it useless and which made it necessary for the owner to kill the horse.

Argument hinged on the point whether it would not have been as easy for Mr. Caldwell to pull his horse to the right, and allow the auto to pass on the left which is according to the State law, as to pull to the left as he did. Mr. Caldwell testified he was driving down the middle of the road and that when he heard the auto, he would have pulled directly in the path of the auto had he turned his horse to the right as the law says he should.

The question as to the age of the horse caused some amusement. Mr. Caldwell testified he did not know the animal's age because it was impossible to determine exactly when the horse's teeth get smooth, in which condition this horse's teeth were. It was brought out in rebuttal that generally at the age of twelve a horse's teeth get smooth and it is impossible to determine their age. Mr. Arbuckle asked if it were not a fact that the horse was twenty-two years old, and Mr. Caldwell said that it was not. He said he did not know by whom the horse was raised and did not know from whom it was purchased by Gwinnup, from whom he bought it.

Berry Osborne, who saw the accident, was the second witness for the plaintiff. His testimony confirmed that of the plaintiff. He said in cross-examination that he never heard the auto horn toot but once. He said that the driver did not stop to learn if he had hurt the horse.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Rev. William Evans, D. D., Director Bible Course
Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.

LESSON FOR FEBRUARY 11.

THE BOY JESUS IN THE TEMPLE.

LESSON TEXT—Luke 2:40-52.
GOLDEN TEXT—"How is it that ye sought me? Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?"—Luke 2:49.
MEMORY VERSES—46, 47.

This lesson is the one solitary instance recorded in the strangely sealed thirty years of the Master's life. Here is an illustration of what is meant by the inspiration of election—only those things that were of vital and redemptive importance in the life of Jesus are recorded. John says, "Many other signs truly did Jesus which are not written in this book: But these are written, that ye might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the son of God; and that believing ye might have life through his name." For this reason, we should value every word that is written.

The lesson furnishes a model in character building for the youth. Jesus is the example, and the model boy. Jesus was a real boy. He ate, drank, played, grew, asked questions, just as other boys do.

His character, like all other character building, was a growth: "He increased in wisdom and stature." No character is instantaneous; it is the work of growth and of years, indeed, of a lifetime. An icicle is formed drop by drop. Character is formed by single words and acts. A mushroom may grow in a night, but surely not the character of a man. Just as words and sentences are formed by means of the single letters of the alphabet, so words, thoughts, deeds, actions, looks, motives—these are the alphabet from which we spell character. Sow a thought, and reap a word; sow a word, and reap an act; sow an act, and reap a habit; sow a habit, and reap a character; sow a character, and reap a destiny.

Christ's character was developed in the home. He had a Christian home—the greatest gift of God this side of heaven. What chance has many a child today to build character in a home where the parents know not God, never read the Bible, never pray, never go to church? If for no other reason, parents should become Christians for their children's sake. If our children are lost, we parents are to blame, unless we have set before them the example of a Christian life.

As a boy, Christ was obedient to his parents. This was a manly thing. Parents are in the place of God to the child: God cannot be everywhere, so he made parents. The first commandment on the second table is obedience to parents, and it is the first commandment with a promise. The apron strings of the mother may become the reins of government of the nation. We must obey before we can command.

The character of Jesus was developed in the church also. His parents were churchgoers, and they had cultivated that habit in the child. In speaking of Jesus as a churchgoer, Luke says that "as his custom was, he went into the synagogue." What great thoughts must have come to the mind of Christ as he visited the temple! What dormant potentialities were aroused as he sat and listened to the exposition of God's word! Humanly speaking, Christ owed a great deal in the development of his character to his attendance at the temple. Can a symmetrical character be produced outside of the church and religion? We think not; certainly the best character cannot be produced in one who ignores these. In spite of all her failures, the church is the best institution in the world today for the building of character. We do our children a great wrong when we deprive them of the privileges of the church.

But Jesus was also a member of the Bible school—the teaching part of the church. This is evident from the fact that the instruction received was in answering and asking questions. No doubt many of the Scripture passages quoted by him were learned in the Jewish Bible school.

The boy Jesus was an interested as well as an interesting scholar in the school. He was no mere visitor. He came with a well prepared lesson, and that indicated that he had studied the lesson at home under the instruction of his parents. What a lesson for parents today!

Have you ever considered how many great and noble men the Sunday school of our land have been instrumental in producing? Did you ever think how many of the most influential men of the world today give their time to Sunday school work, thereby recognizing the power that their own early training in the Sunday school had been in their lives?

Consider the great characters that have played upon the stage of American history—or the history of the world over for that matter—and you will find that a great part, if not the greatest part of the credit for the splendid characters possessed by these noble men and women is to be given to religion and the church.

"For what are men better than sheep or goats That nourish a blind life within the brain, If knowing God, they lift not hands of prayer Both for themselves and those who call them friend?"

Christian Endeavor By E. P. Gates

TOPIC FOR FEBRUARY 11.

Christian Virtues. II. Generosity.—2 Cor. 9:6-15. (Consecration Meeting.)

No one likes to be called stingy. God loveth a cheerful giver.

God is generous. He provides the means for us to get food, shelter, and clothing. His abounding love for us was expressed when "he gave his only begotten son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." If we are not willing to pass on the physical and spiritual gifts we have received, we are surely unworthy to be called the friends of God.

What we have belongs to God. While we are passing through life we are entrusted with certain gifts, talents and goods. We are trustees. Responsibility rests upon us to faithfully comply with the conditions imposed upon us and exercise our trusteeship for the benefit of others. In proportion as we are generous, our lives are useful.

Generosity is the means by which we multiply our power to appreciate best things. The generous person enjoys life. The selfish person shuts out sunshine.

Two men alike give their lives to the service of God. One serves him by devoting all his time to preaching God's message to men, ministering to the sick and needy and otherwise doing the work of a minister of Christ. The other serves God by buying and selling the products of field and mine and mind, bringing the creature comforts within the reach of his fellow men. Both serve Jehovah. One is in a soul-saving business while the other makes money. In the plan of God the one who gathers material fruit from his labors must share his gain with the one whose work is spiritual, while the one who gathers the "fruits of the spirit" must share his gifts with those not likewise situated.

Next Week's Meeting.

Topic—"No" and "Yes." When to say them.—Ps. 57:1-11. Led by the lookout committee. Assign papers or short talks on "The Hardest 'Yes,'" "The Hardest 'No,'" "Yes and 'No' in Everyday Life," "Saying 'Yes' and 'No' in Society Work." Close your meeting with a brief talk by your pastor on the power of a surrendered life. Make a special effort to have all your associate members present. Pray earnestly that they may be won to the Master.

Folks Past Fifty Must Use Cascarets

What Glasses Are to Weak Eyes, Cascarets Are to Weak Bowels —A Ten Cent Box Will Amaze You.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. And the bowels are muscles. So all old need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash cannot be used every day. What the bowels need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. Then only such tonic is Cascarets and they are only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.

Golden Text—How is it that ye sought me? Wist ye not that I must be in my Father's house? Luke II:49.

(1.) Verse 40—Was this experience of the child Jesus of growth, spirituality and wisdom any different to what any other child might have?

(2.) Now much did the spirituality of Jesus depend upon his mother's training?

(3.) Did Jesus have any advantage over any other boy in a like environment?

(4.) Verses 41-42—What can you say for or against parents taking very young children to religious services?

(5.) What are the chances for children who are not taken to church nor religiously trained becoming earnest Christians?

(6.) What per cent of children who are religiously trained by a mother both wise and good will develop into strong religious characters?

(7.) What feast was it that the parents attended at Jerusalem?

(8.) Verses 43-45—Why was there nothing strange in the parents of Jesus not missing him for a whole day?

(9.) Why should parents these days not allow a twelve-year-old boy to be where they know not?

(10.) What clue is it safe to follow in looking for a twelve-year-old boy?

(11.) Was it the fact that Jesus knew his company had left Jerusalem? Give your reason.

(12.) Verses 46-47—How do you suppose they spent the three days before they found the boy Jesus?

(13.) If the parents had known their son's character more intimately would they have gone to the temple sooner?

(14.) Why, under the circumstances, was it not extraordinary for Jesus to be found in the midst of these rabbis?

(15.) What kind of a meeting today most resembles the one Jesus was found at?

(16.) Why would you or not say that there was anything supernatural in the precocity of Jesus?

(17.) Which is the better way to learn truth and why? Listening to sermons and lectures or by questions and answers?

(18.) Verse 48—Ought they to have been "amazed" when they saw Jesus in such company?

(20.) Did Mary act wisely in blaming her son? Why?

(21.) Verses 49-51—What did Jesus mean by his answer which his parents did not understand?

MAKES FORMAL DECLARATION

Resenting the Snub Given Their Chief by the Adoption of the Underwood Resolution, the Bryan Followers in Congress Announce That They Will Ask National Convention to Declare For Plan of Fighting Money Trust.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Favoring a special inquiry by congress into the affairs of the money trust, the Bryan men in the house plan to make a fight to incorporate a plank demanding such action in the platform to be adopted at the coming national convention. Such leaders as Ollie James, senator-elect from Kentucky; Representative Henry of Texas, and others who train with William Jennings Bryan, declare that the campaign for a sweeping investigation of the operations of the money trust has only begun. So far as this session of congress is concerned, they will abide by the will of the majority as expressed in Wednesday night's caucus, but they announce their purpose to take an appeal to the highest party tribunal—the national convention.

Despite appearances of harmony among the house Democrats, it is known that the Bryanites are in a sullen and resentful frame of mind as the result of Wednesday night's caucus.

Bound by the dictum of the caucus, the Bryan men are forced for the time to comply with the terms of the Underwood resolution, but they are already laying their plans to carry it to the Baltimore convention. There is good reason to believe that Mr. Bryan is behind this movement. Things have reached such a pass, Democratic leaders here believe, that the time is not far distant when Speaker Clark will have to cut loose from Bryan. In the fight over the free raw wool provision at the special session, Mr. Clark sided with Underwood in the Bryan-Underwood controversy. Wednesday night the speaker again ran counter to the wishes of Mr. Bryan when he voted for the resolution that tabled the Bryan proposition that the money trust should be placed at the mercy of a special committee on inquiry.

Bryan men here declare that the big fight of the convention so far as the platform is concerned will be waged over the proposed money trust plank.

DIDN'T MOLEST HIM

Belfast Orangemen Permit Churchill to Make His Speech.

Belfast, Feb. 9.—Winston Churchill has come and gone with every bone in his body intact, after making his advertised home rule speech in a tent on the football field to an enthusiastic crowd. There were no hostile elements in the assemblage except a few suffragists whose interruptions, on account of their personal dislike of Mr. Churchill, were suppressed by the police.

The predictions of bloodshed which had caused the government to quarter 5,000 troops in Belfast were not fulfilled.

Young Girl Strangely Missing.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 9.—Miss Erma Neumann, aged seventeen years, daughter of Carl Neumann, an architect, has been missing since Feb. 1, and fears are entertained she has been kidnapped. The parents are supplying the police of surrounding cities and Chicago with photographs and descriptions of the young woman.

Sold Cigarets to Boys.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—Three cigar store owners, arrested on complaint of Lucy Page Gaston, superintendent of the Anti-Cigarette league, each were fined $25 and costs by Municipal Judge Goodnow on the charge of selling cigarettes to minors. Five high school boys testified they purchased cigarettes from the men.

Thieving Train Crew Arrested.

Carmi, Ill., Feb. 9.—Following thefts of packages consigned over the Baltimore & Ohio railroad from Flora to Shawneetown, Ill., detectives arrested Conductor W. L. Pope of Flora, Ill., and three brakemen, J. W. Pourchot, G. H. Joy and C. E. Gardner. All confessed and were released under bond.

Big Steel Manufacturer Tells Senate Committee on Finance That if the Underwood Bill Reducing Tariff on Steel Becomes a Law He Will Sell Out His Bethlehem Holdings and Retire From Business.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Speaking with every evidence of sincerity and in a manner that strongly impressed his hearers, Charles M. Schwab, the steel manufacturer, told the senate committee on finances that if the Underwood bill reducing the tariff on steel became a law he would sell out his interest in the Bethlehem Steel company and retire.

"I have put my entire fortune, representing years of toil, in the steel business," said Mr. Schwab. "Our plant is the largest independent steel plant in the east, doing a business of $35,000,000 a year. We are declaring no dividends, but are putting all our profits back into the business. I am alone in the world. I have no heir to leave this business to and my only interest is in building up a good plant and keeping it going, but if you gentlemen in congress pass this Underwood bill I will sell out my stock and retire from the steel business forever."

Mr. Schwab appeared before the committee voluntarily and was on the stand about three hours. He went into all the details of the steel industry in answer to questions from members of the committee. Labor conditions appeared to be the phase that interested the members of the committee most. Mr. Schwab described them in detail and said they were not half as bad as they had been painted.

OFFERED A BRIBE

Story Told About Hines by Young Woman Telegraph Operator.

Washington, Feb. 9.—A situation has been created in the Lorimer investigation that is likely to lead to more startling disclosures than anything that has heretofore been disclosed in this remarkable case. Late yesterday afternoon a Postal Telegraph operator, Miss Helen M. Seavers, who is stationed in the rotunda of the Willard hotel, was called to the witness stand and testified that Edward Hines, the Chicago lumber merchant, whose name has figured prominently in the Lorimer case, had offered her money to induce her to show him a telegram that had been filed with her for transmission by A. C. Bailey, a Burns detective who has been a witness in the investigation. She gave her testimony in a straightforward manner and made a profound impression on the committee.

Edward Hines, who will probably take the witness stand today, says: "The whole story is an absurd fabrication, concocted by the Burns detectives."

LOCATED IN MEXICO

Milton A. Schmidt, Alleged Dynamiter, Given Up by Sweetheart.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 9.—Milton A. Schmidt, widely sought as an accomplice of J. B. McNamara in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building Oct. 1, 1910, is in Mexico. His sweetheart, Rose Flater, is on her way to Los Angeles to tell the federal investigators here what she knows regarding Schmidt. Schmidt is said to be the one man whose testimony would reveal all the "higher ups" of California labor circles who were involved in the dynamiting plots.

Robbers Poorly Recompensed.

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 9.—According to railroad officials, bandits who held up the Rock Island train near Hurlburt, Ark., were poorly recompensed for their efforts. Express company officials deny there was a large amount of specie on the train, and postal officials say only one pouch of mail is missing.

Starved Patient to Death.

Port Orchard, Wash., Feb. 9.—An indeterminate penitentiary sentence of from two to twenty years was pronounced here on Mrs. Linda Burfield Hazzard, a fasting specialist, convicted of manslaughter for having caused the death by starvation of Miss Claire Williamson, a wealthy English woman.

A Boy and a Gun.

Leonardtown, Md., Feb. 9.—Shot by her brother, who in play pointed his rifle at her, thinking it was not loaded, Helen Owens, seven years old, is dead at Red Gate, and the brother is in a critical condition from remorse.

First Crusaders' Temple.

Nazareth, Palestine, Feb. 9.—The site of the church of the First Crusaders has been discovered. It seems to have been established in the same place where the carpenter shop of Joseph stood.

Serious Illness of Mrs. Landis.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—United States District Judge Landis was summoned to Logansport, Ind., by the serious illness of his mother, who is eighty years old.

Indigestion is Poison.

Thousands of men and women are suffering from diseases caused by foul decaying food in their stomachs. This causes dangerous poison gases which makes the breath unbearable, poisons the blood, deadens the brain, shatters the nerves. The evil effects of indigestion and dyspepsia are too well known to be dilated upon. The new remedy for these troubles is a natural and harmless one called "Digestit"—little tablets that contain all the ingredients necessary to digest food. A couple of "Digestit" tablets will digest all the food in your stomach, kill poisonous gases, make you feel fine. It has relieved thousands. Their own statements are proof. You can try it for yourself. Your money will be refunded if "Digestit" fails—50c. Ask at F. E. Wolcott's Drug Store.

Special from New York: Ten per cent of the married couples failed to apply for a divorce last week.

Wilson called Watterson a "nice old gentleman." This would make most people madder than calling them a thief.

After hearing from Secretary Knox that she must be good, we trust Cuby will spend less time in the cafes and more in the cane fields.

The subsidiary oil companies and the independents have put up the price of oil, too. It is still possible to meet and talk over prices after dark.

Uncle Sam says Cuba must maintain a stable government. But under a stable government only a small portion of the population can hold office.

If the senators wanted the peace treaty debates thoroughly reported, they should have closed up their doors and stumped the reporters to get it.

As the Washington ladies may get their ball gowns showed on if they keep on inaugurating presidents in March, the public business should be set aside, and the date put off to April.

Wall street note: It having been reported that Woodrow Wilson was seen wearing a red necktie, profound depression pervaded the street, and the bottom seemed to have dropped out of the market.

Socialist Congressman Berger is pushing a woman suffrage amendment, although the women would generally prefer to have the Socialists stop agitating and devote their time to supporting their families.

The bath tub trust is ordered to appear in court. The trusts must have that homey feeling when they get into court now, and no doubt put up their feet on the mantel piece as if it was their own living room.

The sufferings of citizens who try to borrow a million of the Money Power were sympathetically treated before the Congress committee, but the plight of the man who wants a loan of ten dollars to pay his fuel bill was overlooked.

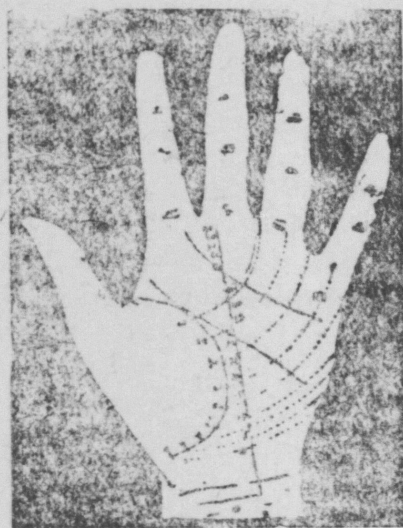

Word comes from St. Louis that the peaches will come high next summer owing to the recent cold weather. But we can't see that it makes a great amount of difference. You will notice that apples cost about the same despite the fact that thousands of bushels rotted on the orchard grounds all over the State.

Mr. Bryan tells us the break between Woodrow Wilson and Colonel Harvey and Colonel Watterson was inevitable since they were traveling in opposite directions. Mr. Wilson moving forward and the colonels executing a retrograde movement. But is there something sinister in Colonel Bryan's warning that Mr. Wilson must prepare himself for other defections, asks the Anderson Herald?

The Indianapolis Sun is quite impossible. It has harped about so called Big Business until most people are inclined to believe it is insincere and is only seeking to mislead. When it has an opportunity to show it is sincere, it makes a mess of it. When the connection between Theodore Roosevelt and George W. Perkins and the steel trust is proven beyond any reasonable doubt, the Sun smiles and says Big Business is pretty small. But, of course, it would not be just decent for the Sun to link the name of Theodore Roosevelt with Big Business as he is one of our most "progressive" citizens.

The world's greatest curse is the anticipation of evil which never comes and our greatest troubles are those which never befall us. All of us have seen these imaginary misfortunes, have shaped our courses to dodge obstacles which did not exist. Old women used to refer to it as "borrowing trouble" and there are a great many people who are eternally seeking to do that very thing. Of course one who seeks to borrow trouble is accomplished; it is the one thing which is always ready to be loaned. Before the seeds are planted there are those who will declare that there is to be no harvest. The harvest comes and they say there will be no market for the grain, or that it will rot in the bin, or that it is the last crop we shall raise. They behold the evil that comes not, and joy is not for them.

Joy unbounded! Today the Christmas carnival decorations were taken down.

It is currently reported about town that the fellow who appeared at the traction station this morning with twenty-eight dozen fresh eggs created an incipient riot.

And he took them to the Indianapolis market. That's all right if he'll spend the proceeds back home.

Last year was the hottest in years—if that offers you any consolation.

One newspaper observes that women have invaded all special fields for men with the exception of farming. Wonder if the editor has heard of any women brakemen?

We hardly believe he has because they would have to be invariably (or invariably have to be) brakewomen.

"Women Dance Until They Drop Fainting," is a headline over a Richmond dispatch. Not wishing them any harm but we believe it serves 'em right up at Richmond for having any dance marathons.

A Kansas City judge has sentenced a man to obey his wife for six months. Only six months—and to think some fellows have to obey their wives twelve months in a year.

We are looking for a pleasant June.

HIS NEXT BEST FRIEND.

The other evening Judge Alonzo Blair and John H. Kiplinger were taking dinner in an Indianapolis restaurant when the manager of an Indianapolis piano concern strolled in. Being acquainted with Kiplinger he walked over to the table and after the customary greetings were over, Mr. Kiplinger introduced Judge Blair and said:

"This is our judge down at Rushville."

"Is that so," exclaimed the piano man. "He surely is a twin brother to the judge of the circuit court at Shelbyville. I never saw two men who looked more alike and who are not related."

Of course, both Judge Blair and Mr. Kiplinger appreciated the situation.

"I think that is the strangest likeness I ever observed," continued the Indianapolis man. "We tried a case in the Shelby county court the other day and I thought I was pretty well acquainted with the judge there. He is the very image of you"—and he nodded his head toward Judge Blair. It was very apparent that the judge was fast becoming uneasy. It was a rather ticklish position for him and it seemed that he was about to reveal his true identity.

"You say you tried a case before the Shelby county court, what do you think of the judge?" asked Mr. Kiplinger.

Judge Blair shifted about in his chair and Mr. Kiplinger feared he would relieve the Indianapolis man and spoil all of the fun. Of course, the judge didn't care about hearing what the man had to say about him. He was the least bit afraid it might be something which might offend him. But Judge Blair never opened his mouth. Finally the piano man answered:

"I think he is a fine judge. In fact, I don't think I ever had a case before a bench where the court was fairer to all concerned."

After he had heard this eulogy of the court Mr. Kiplinger felt it was high time to relieve the judge and he gently slipped it to the piano man that the judge in front of him and the one before whom he had tried a case in Shelbyville were one and the same man.

SOCIETY NEWS

The May W. Donnan study class will meet at the Graham school building tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. Charles Kincaid of Clarksburg, has issued invitations to the members of the W. P. T. C. club to be entertained at her home Feb. 22 at dinner. The W. P. T. C. club was organized thirty years ago at Clarksburg. There are thirty members living now, and some of them have homes many miles away. It is the custom of those living here to have their annual meeting, and since last year three members have been called home. Those that can not attend send a letter. The members look forward to this day as being one of the happiest days of the year.

Announcements have been received here for the approaching marriage of Miss Myrta Marguerite Smith of Noblesville and Eugene Collins Pulliam of Atchison, Kansas, which will take place at Miss Smith's home at five o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, February 21. Miss Smith is well known here, having visited Mrs. Lawrence M. Root a number of times. She was in Mrs. Root's wedding party as a bridesmaid. She and Mrs. Root graduated from DePauw University in the class of 1909, and were members of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Mr. Pulliam was graduated from DePauw in 1910, and was a member of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. They will be at home in Atchison after March 15. Mr. and Mrs. Root will attend the wedding.

Concerning the wedding of Miss Audrey Jeffries and Pearl Johnson here Wednesday evening the Greenfield Reporter says: Mr. Johnson is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Johnson, of McCordsville, and is a prosperous young farmer, highly esteemed by all his friends. Miss Jeffries is the oldest daughter of Mrs. Thaddeus Jeffries of near Charlottesville, and is one of the most popular young ladies of that community, as was evidenced by the splendid array of presents she received when she was given a shower by twenty-five of her young lady friends a few days ago. She is a graduate of the Charlottesville high school. A home wedding was being planned for the young couple when Miss Jeffries' father died suddenly a few weeks ago, when a quiet wedding was decided upon. Following the marriage at Rushville, the young couple returned to the home of the bride, where a wedding supper had been prepared by Mrs. Clara Mattix, Mrs. Anna Lane and Mrs. George Dieter, aunts of the bride. The newly married couple will be at home to their friends at McCordsville after two weeks, which will be spent in visiting among relatives.

"The Store That Satisfies"

AMUSEMENTS

The Palace will have the usual two pictures tonight. "King, the Detective" is an Imp film telling a clever detective story. Several thrilling scenes are shown and the plot is novel and original. "Hector's Inheritance" is a drama telling a pathetic story of human interest. It is a Solax film. A picture of unusual interest is the two reel Imp production, "From the Bottom of the Sea" which is booked for an early appearance here.

The Portola will have a feature show tonight with three pictures and special music. "The American Insurrecto" is a Kalem western story. "The Husking Bee" is a rural comedy with a pretty romance interwoven. The quarrel started at a husking bee over the finding of a red ear and ends when the girl makes the boy crawl on hands and knees to her. "The Mysterious Stranger" is a miracle play in which a mysterious stranger, whom everyone will take for the Savior appears in the guise of a beggar which in the last act he suddenly puts off to stands forth in more impressive fashion.

"The Telltale Knife," the first picture at the Princess tonight is an exciting western picture. "Twas Ever Thus," is a clever comedy, telling of a girl twenty years old who received a box of roses for her birthday from her lover. It was meant that she should get twenty roses, but because he is such a good customer of the florist, ten extra were added. He was treated most harshly by the girl and more so by her father. On the same reel is the children's rhyme, "Little Red Ridinghood." There is the same imaginative atmosphere in the picture as in the rhyme.

"Moncharmin opened the door at last. His eyes were starting out of his head. I thought he meant to strike me. I could not get a word in; and what do you think he shouted at me? 'Have you a safety-pin?' 'No!' 'Well, then, clear out!' I tried to tell him that an unheard-of thing had happened on the stage, but he roared, 'A safety-pin! Give me a safety-pin at once!' A boy heard him—he was belting like a bull—ran up with a safety-pin and gave it to him, whereupon Moncharmin slammed the door in my face, and there you are!"
"And couldn't you have said, 'Christine Daae?'"

"I should like to have seen you in my place. He was foaming at the mouth. He thought of nothing but his safety-pin. I believe, if they hadn't brought him one on the spot, he would have fallen down in a fit! . . . Oh, all this isn't natural; and our managers are going mad! . . . Besides, it can't go on like this! I'm not used to being treated in that fashion!"

Suddenly Gabriel whispered:
"It's another trick of O. G.'s."
Remy gave a grin, Mercier a sigh and seemed about to speak . . . but, meeting Gabriel's eye, said nothing.
However, Mercier felt his responsibility increased as the minutes passed without the managers' appearing; and, at last, he could stand it no longer.
"Look here, I'll go and hunt them out myself!"
Gabriel, turning very gloomy and serious, stopped him.
"Be careful what you're doing, Mercier! If they're staying in their office, it's probably because they have to! O. G. has more than one trick in his bag!"
But Mercier shook his head.
"That's their lookout! I'm going! If people had listened to me, the police would have known everything long ago!"
And he went.

"What's everything?" asked Remy.
"What was there to tell the police? Why don't you answer, Gabriel?"
Ah, so you know something! Well, you would do better to tell me, too, if you don't want me to shout out that you are all going mad! . . . Yes, that's what you are: mad!"
Gabriel put on a stupid look and pretended not to understand the private secretary's unseemly outburst.
"What 'something' am I supposed to know?" he said. "I don't know what you mean."

Remy began to lose his temper.
"This evening, Richard and Moncharmin were behaving like lunatics, here, between the acts."
"I never noticed it," growled Gabriel, very much annoyed.
"Then you're the only one! . . . Do you think that I didn't see them? . . . And that M. Parabise, the manager of the Credit Central, noticed nothing? . . . And that M. de La Borderie, the ambassador, has no eyes to see with? . . . Why, all the subscribers were pointing at our managers!"
"But what were our managers doing?" asked Gabriel, putting on his most innocent air.
"What were they doing? You know better than any one what they were doing! . . . You were there! And you were watching them, you and Mercier! . . . And you were the only two who didn't laugh. . . ."

"I don't understand!"
Gabriel raised his arms and dropped them to his sides again, which gesture was meant to convey that the question did not interest him in the least. Remy continued:
"What is the sense of this new mania of theirs? Why won't they have any one come near them now?"
"What? Won't they have any one come near them?"
"And they won't let any one touch them!"
"Really? Have you noticed that they won't let any one touch them?"

COUGHED FIVE YEARS

Did you ever cough for five weeks—or five months? Then just think how distressing it must be to have a cough hang on for five years.

Mrs. M. Mann, of New York City knows something about this. She says: "A chronic cough that lasted for five years seemed almost impossible for me to get rid of. Various other remedies gave little if any relief, but before I had taken half a bottle of Vinol I noticed a great improvement as I no longer coughed at night."

"Now my bronchial trouble has quite disappeared and I feel sure that the credit for this is due to Vinol."

The reason cough syrups did Mrs. Mann no good is that they do not and cannot build up the body and enrich the blood. That is what you have to do to get rid of a stubborn bronchial cough, and Vinol will do it for you.

Vinol contains the curative, healing principals of fresh cod livers (without oil) and tonic iron. We guarantee it to be delicious in taste and to satisfy you with its medicinal effects. F. B. Johnson & Co. druggists, Rushville, Ind.

That is certainly odd!"

"Oh, so you admit it! And high time, too! And then, they walk backward!"

"Backward! You have seen our managers walk backward? Why, I thought that only crabs walked backward!"

"Don't laugh, Gabriel; don't laugh!"
"I'm not laughing," protested Gabriel, looking as solemn as a judge.

"Perhaps you can tell me this, Gabriel, as you're an intimate friend of the management: When I went up to M. Richard, outside the foyer, during the Garden interval, with my hand out before me, why did M. Moncharmin hurriedly whisper to me, 'Go away! Go away! Whatever you do, don't touch M. le directeur!' Am I supposed to have an infectious disease?"

"It's incredible!"

"And, a little later, when M. de La Borderie went up to M. Richard, didn't you see M. Moncharmin fling himself between them and hear him exclaim, 'M. l'ambassadeur, j'entreteux not to touch M. le directeur?'"

"It's terrible! . . . And what was Richard doing meanwhile?"

"What was he doing? Why, you saw him! He turned about, bowed in front of him, though there was nobody in front of him, and withdrew backward!"

"Backward?"

"And Moncharmin, behind Richard, also turned about; that is, he described a semi-circle behind Richard and also walked backward! . . . And they went like that to the staircase leading to the managers' office: backward, backward, backward! . . . Well, if they are not mad, will you explain what it means?"

"Perhaps they were practicing a figure in the ballet," suggested Gabriel, without much conviction in his voice.

The secretary was furious at this wretched joke, made at so dramatic a

Who Will Send $2.50 Worth of Special Treatment and New Book Free.

To prove the remarkable curative powers of his new Special Treatments for heart disease, short breath, pain in side, shoulder or arm, oppression, irregular pulse, palpitation, smothering, puffing of ankles, or dropsy, Dr. Miles sends, free, to every afflicted person, a $2.50 treatment. The worst cases usually soon relieved.

These treatments are the result of 25 years' extensive research and remarkable success in treating various ailments of the heart, stomach and nerves, which often complicate each case. So astonishing are the results of his treatment that he offers all sick persons a two-pound Trial Free. Our Book contains many remarkable cures. A few are given below.

Certainly nothing could be more generous. Few physicians have such confidence in their treatments. All afflicted persons should avail themselves of this liberal offer, as they may never have such an opportunity again. Delays are dangerous. No death comes more suddenly than that from heart disease. Many cured after 5 to 20 physicians had pronounced them "incurable."

Mr. W. J. Crites, Ludington, Mich., cured after 4 physicians failed. Mr. George Lee, Nevada, Ia., Mr. W. P. Runyan, Spencer, Iowa, and Mrs. Emma Scheeler, Maize, Kans., each cured after 3 physicians failed. Mr. Joseph Wisler, Peru, Ind., cured after local doctor failed. Mrs. J. P. moment. He knitted his brows and contracted his lips. Then he put his mouth to Gabriel's ear:

"Don't be so silly, Gabriel. There are things going on for which you and Mercier are partly responsible."

"What do you mean?" asked Gabriel.

"Christine Daae is not the only one who suddenly disappeared tonight."

"Oh, nonsense!"

"There's no nonsense about it. Perhaps you can tell me why, when Mother Giry came down to the foyer just now, Mercier took her by the hand and hurried her away with him?"

"Really?" said Gabriel, "I never saw it."

"You did see it, Gabriel, for you went with Mercier and Mother Giry to Mercier's office. Since then, you and Mercier have been seen, but no one has seen Mother Giry."

"Do you think we've eaten her?"

"No, but you've locked her up in the office; and any one passing the office can hear her yelling, 'Oh, the scoundrels! Oh, the scoundrels!'"

At this point of this singular conversation, Mercier arrived, all out of breath.

"There!" he said, in a gloomy voice. "It's worse than ever! . . . I shouted, 'It's a serious matter! Open the door! It's I, Mercier.' I heard footsteps. The door opened and Moncharmin appeared. He was very pale. He said, 'What do you want?' I answered, 'Some one has run away with Christine Daae.' What do you think he said? 'And a good job, too!' And he shut the door, after putting this in my hand."

Mercier opened his hand; Remy and Gabriel looked.

"The safety-pin!" cried Remy.

"Strange! Strange!" muttered Gabriel, who could not help shivering.

Suddenly a voice made them all three turn round.

"I beg pardon, gentlemen. Could you tell me where Christine Daae is?"

In spite of the seriousness of the circumstances, the absurdity of the question would have made them roar with laughter, if they had not caught sight of a face so sorrow-stricken that they were at once seized with pity. It was the Vicomte Raoul de Chagny.

CHAPTER XV.

Christine! Christine!

Raoul's first thought, after Christine Daae's fantastic disappearance, was to accuse Erik. He no longer doubted the almost supernatural powers of the Angel of Music, in this domain of the opera in which he had set up his empire. And Raoul rushed on the stage, in a mad fit of love and despair.

"Christine! Christine!" he moaned, calling to her as he felt that she must be calling to him from the depths of that dark pit to which the monster had carried her. "Christine! Christine!"

And he seemed to hear the girl's screams through the frail boards that separated him from her. He bent forward, he listened. . . . He wandered over the stage like a madman. Ah, to descend, to descend into that pit of darkness every entrance to which was closed to him. . . . For the stairs that led below the stage were forbidden to one and all that night!

"Christine! Christine! . . ."

People pushed him aside, laughing. They made fun of him. They thought the poor lover's brain was gone!

By what mad road, through what passages of mystery and darkness known to him alone had Erik dragged that pure-souled child to the awful haunt, with the Louis-Philippe room, opening out on the lake?

"Christine! Christine! . . . Why don't you answer? . . . Are you alive? . . ."

Hideous thoughts flashed through Raoul's congested brain. Of course, Erik must have discovered their secret, must have known that Christine had played him false. What a vengeance would be his!

And Raoul thought again of the yellow stars that had come, the night before, and roamed over his balcony. Why had he not put them out for good? There were some men's eyes that dilated in the darkness and shone like stars or like cats' eyes. Certainly Albinos, who seemed to have rabbits' eyes by day, had cats' eyes at night; everybody knew that!

Yes, yes, he had undoubtedly fired at Erik. Why had he not killed him? The monster had fled up the gutter-spout like a cat or a convict who—everybody knew that also—would scale the very skies, with the help of a gutter-spout. . . . No doubt Erik was at that time contemplating some decisive step against Raoul, but he had been wounded and had escaped to turn against poor Christine instead.

Such were the cruel thoughts that haunted Raoul as he ran to the singer's dressing-room.

"Christine! Christine!"

Bitter tears scorched the boy's eyelids as he saw scattered over the furniture the clothes which his beautiful bride was to have worn at the hour of their flight. Oh, why had she refused to leave earlier?

Why had she toyed with the threatening catastrophe? Why toyed with the monster's heart? Why, in a final access of pity, had she insisted on flinging, as a last sop to that demon's soul, her divine song:

Holy angel in heaven blessed,
My spirit longs with thee to rest!

Raoul, his throat filled with sobs, oaths and insults, flumbled awkwardly at the great mirror that had opened one night before his eyes, to let Christine pass to the murky dwelling below. He pushed, pressed, groped about, but the glass apparently obeyed no one but Erik. . . . Perhaps actions were not enough with a glass of the kind? Perhaps he was expected to utter certain words? When he was a little boy, he had heard that there were things that obeyed the spoken word!

Suddenly, Raoul remembered something about a gate opening into the Rue Scribe, an underground passage running straight to the Rue Scribe from the lake. . . . Yes, Christine had told him about that. . . . And, when he found that the key was no longer in the box, he nevertheless ran to the Rue Scribe.

Outside, in the street, he passed his trembling hands over the huge stones, felt for outlets . . . met with iron bars . . . were those they? . . . Or these? . . . Or could it be that air-hole? . . . He plunged his useless eyes through the bars. . . . Ho . . . dark it was in there! . . . He listened. . . . All was silence! . . . He went round the building . . . and came to bigger bars, immense gates! . . . It was the entrance to the Cour de l'Administration.

Raoul rushed into the doorkeeper's lodge.

"I beg your pardon, madame, could you tell me where to find a gate or door, made of bars, iron bars, opening into the Rue Scribe . . . and leading to the lake? . . . You know the lake I mean? . . . Yes, the underground lake . . . under the opera."

"Yes, sir, I know there is a lake under the opera, but I don't know which door leads to it. I have never been there!"

"And the Rue Scribe, madame, the Rue Scribe? Have you never been to the Rue Scribe?"

The woman laughed, screamed with laughter! Raoul darted away, roaring with anger, ran up-stairs, four stairs at a time, down-stairs, rushed through the whole of the business side of the opera-house, found himself once more in the light of the stage.

Paper bags, thrown away after one using, minimizes pot-washing. Indeed, in many cases they reduce it to the vanishing point.

Baked Blue Fish.—Cut off head and tail, wash clean, wipe with a soft, damp cloth, stuff with soft bread crumb stuffing, else lay sliced potatoes inside, with a seasoning of butter, pepper, salt and onion, and tie up securely. Rub all over outside with soft butter or dripping, sprinkle with salt, put in a greased bag, with a small lump of fat and a very little cold water. Seal bag and cook in a hot oven twenty to forty minutes, according to weight. Serve with sliced lemon and garnish with parsley. A squeeze of lemon juice in the bag is to many tastes an improvement.

Cat Fish, Baked or Broiled.

Cat fish are good to eat, notwithstanding their looks. Anything under four-pound weight is fine for stuffing and baking. Use a bread crumb stuffing or one made of cornmeal beaten up in egg and lightly fried, seasoning it with pepper, salt and a suspicion of onion. Put plenty of butter in with the stuffing, wiping the fish as dry as possible before stuffing it and salting and peppering the inside. Season the outside likewise, grease well with soft butter, put an extra lump of butter in the bag, add a little milk and water, half and half, and put in a hot oven. Bake in full heat ten minutes, then turn down the flame one-half and cook according to size—it will take about ten minutes extra to the

In all the many and varied rewards of diligence none are better worth while than those that wait upon diligent paper bag cooking. Ease is one of them, deftness another, neatness in the kitchen still a third. It is quite impossible to make mere words convey all that this method of cookery means—still more impossible to set down all that its use will teach you.

For example, its use will teach you how little art can improve on nature in matter of flavors. Paper bag cooking keeps in the flavor, intensifies it, and makes it the sauce of appetite. Good digestion commonly waits on appetite.

But there are other things to take into account. Not the least of them is the saving to one's hands and one's temper in the matter of washing up after a meal.

Whether this falls to the cook, to her mistress, or haply, to the gallant man of the house, who thrusts himself helpfully into the roughest part of the work, the fact remains indisputable that pan scrubbing is hard work, distasteful in the extreme and bound to leave unpleasant reminders. Pots and pans mean the use of strong alkalies. Without them the pots can not be kept sanitary. No sort of glove yet devised will permit the free use possible to the bare hand. The syllogism runs about thus wise: To cook in the old way, you must have pots, the pots must be kept clean, or else be a constant menace, and to keep them clean requires detergents so powerful they will destroy human cuticle the same as they "cut grease."

Result, rough, reddened, painful hands, in spite of emollients, glove-wearing and so on. The most careful manicuring will not undo the effect of steady pot-washing.

Paper bags, thrown away after one using, minimizes pot-washing. Indeed, in many cases they reduce it to the vanishing point.

Baked Blue Fish.—Cut off head and tail, wash clean, wipe with a soft, damp cloth, stuff with soft bread crumb stuffing, else lay sliced potatoes inside, with a seasoning of butter, pepper, salt and onion, and tie up securely. Rub all over outside with soft butter or dripping, sprinkle with salt, put in a greased bag, with a small lump of fat and a very little cold water. Seal bag and cook in a hot oven twenty to forty minutes, according to weight. Serve with sliced lemon and garnish with parsley. A squeeze of lemon juice in the bag is to many tastes an improvement.

Cat Fish, Baked or Broiled.—Cat fish are good to eat, notwithstanding their looks. Anything under four-pound weight is fine for stuffing and baking. Use a bread crumb stuffing or one made of cornmeal beaten up in egg and lightly fried, seasoning it with pepper, salt and a suspicion of onion. Put plenty of butter in with the stuffing, wiping the fish as dry as possible before stuffing it and salting and peppering the inside. Season the outside likewise, grease well with soft butter, put an extra lump of butter in the bag, add a little milk and water, half and half, and put in a hot oven. Bake in full heat ten minutes, then turn down the flame one-half and cook according to size—it will take about ten minutes extra to the pound. But make a peep-hole and look in before taking out of the bag—eye and nose will help to decide when the fish is well done. A very big cat fish is better cut in steaks or fillets. Wipe dry, dip in melted butter, sprinkle with lemon juice, then with pepper, salt and a little fine bread crumb or corn meal. Lay in a well-greased bag on thin-sliced bacon, put more bacon over it, seal and cook thirty minutes to an hour, according to weight.

THREE DELECTABLES.

By Nicolas Soyer, Chef of Brooks' Club, London.

Savory Fish.—Put a little flaked cold fish, with a sprinkle of Parmesan, mixed with a little cream, on a slice of well-buttered toast. Place in bag and cook six minutes in a very hot oven.

Sweetbreads, au Naturel.—Take four sweetbreads, parboil them, take off the skins, dust each sweetbread with salt and pepper very lightly and pour over each a tablespoonful of cream. Slip the sweetbreads into a thickly-greased bag and cook in only moderately hot oven slowly for forty minutes. Open bag gently onto a hot dish. Send to table with new potatoes and salad.

ONLY ONE THING NOW STANDS IN THE WAY

That Is the Question of Hereditary Titles

Shanghai, Feb. 9.—The dispute over the hereditary titles is the only question which now prevents a settlement of the abdication of the throne and passing out of the Manchus from the government of China. This and this alone prevents a settlement.

The nobles are insisting that these titles remain hereditary. The Republicans absolutely refuse to agree to this.

The Republicans have occupied Hsu Chowfu, the town where a large body of Chang Hsun's troops were in a strong position. Chang Hsun and his troops are in full retreat. They are headed for the north. The imperial troops suffered severely in the battle which preceded the occupation of the town by the Republican forces, which are large.

Chang Hsun now declares his adhesion to the republic. He has sent envoys to the republicans at Nanking to treat for conditions of surrender.

MADE BIG HAUL

American Registered Mailbags Stolen From Boat Out of Naples.

Naples, Feb. 9.—A number of American mailbags which arrived here by way of Havre, France, containing registered mail and remittances from Italian emigrants in America for their families in Sicily, valued at $100,000, disappeared after they left Naples and no trace of them can be found. It is believed that the bags were stolen from the mailboat Perseo, which was taking them to Palermo.

Hook Not Discouraged.

Washington, Feb. 9.—Despite reports that President Taft had determined to appoint Secretary Nagel to the supreme court bench, friends of United States Judge William C. Hook continue their efforts in his behalf.

Just Like Finding.

Chicago, Feb. 9.—A man walked into a jewelry store here, picked up two sample cases full of jewelry, walked out and has not been found by the police. In the cases were jewels worth $20,000, owned by a New York firm.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Disorders are now reported in many Mexican towns which have hitherto been quiet.

It is reported that King Alfonso of Spain will meet President Fallieres of France in a shooting match at Biarritz in July.

The New York police have made no headway in finding out who sent the bomb that killed Grace Walker in her flat in West Seventy-seventh street.

It is stated that a corps of 300 Amazons were engaged in a recent battle between the Chinese republicans and the imperials. Many of the women were killed.

Serious floods are reported from all parts of Spain and Portugal. Many rivers have overflowed their banks, inundating entire villages. The loss of life will be large.

Representative William B. McKinley, who for the last four years has been chairman of the Republican congressional committee, will run President Taft's pre-convention campaign.

The Decatur (Ill.) chamber of commerce has sent a letter to every commercial organization in the state urging co-operation in a movement to prevent a labor strike in the bituminous coal mines.

HAPPY RESULTS

Have Made Rushville Residents Enthusiastic.

No wonder scores of Rushville citizens grow enthusiastic. It is enough to make anyone to find relief after years of suffering. Public statements like the following are but truthful representations of the daily work done in Rushville by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Jacob Roth, W. First St., R. F. D. No. 4, Rushville, Ind., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been a standard remedy in my family for the past two years and I am firmly convinced that there is no other kidney medicine on the market equal to them. We have never failed to give relief from kidney and bladder complaint. I have such great faith in the curative powers of this preparation that I never fail to speak a good word for it when I hear anyone complaining of this trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

NEW WARRANTS

Have Been Issued Awaiting Bank Cashier's Return From Prison.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., Feb. 9.—The officials of the First National bank of Dillsboro have had two warrants issued for the arrest of Fred Lubbe, aged twenty-seven, charging him with embezzling $3,500 and with forgery. Lubbe was cashier of the bank and mysteriously disappeared a few years ago and it is alleged that his accounts were $15,000 short. Lubbe is now serving a five-year sentence in the federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., for falsifying national bank reports, and it is said by the Dillsboro bank officials that he is soon to be paroled.

A BALD HEADED WOMAN

Shorn of Her Crown of Beauty, Loses in Love and Marriage.

Hair is certainly most necessary to woman. Who could love and marry a bald-headed woman? What charms could one array to offset such a disfigurement?

A woman's goal is usually love and marriage. Her crowning glory is her hair. The loss of her hair mars her beauty, happiness, and success. Yet, right here in Rushville, there are thousands of women who are neglecting or injuring their hair to such an extent that it is only a matter of time when it will be utterly ruined.

Many women destroy the beauty of their hair through thoughtlessness or ignorance of certain facts. They use curling irons over-heated, or to excess, which destroys the natural oil of the hair, causing it to split, break, and come out. They do not shampoo their hair often enough, or too often. They use soaps or preparations which contain ingredients positively harmful to the scalp and hair.

As a result of such treatment, dandruff is created, the hair loosens color, falls out, and baldness commences, unless proper and prompt precautions are taken in time. Then again, microbes and certain diseases bring about unhealthy scalp and hair conditions.

Almost any woman may rid herself of dandruff and diseased scalp and hair if she will but use the right remedy. We have that remedy, and we will positively guarantee that it will either cure dandruff and baldness or it will not cost the user anything.

That's a pretty broad statement, but we will back it and prove it with our own money. We will return your money if you do not find that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is an entirely satisfactory remedy that will promote hair growth and overcome scalp and even on bald heads, unless all life in the hair roots has been extinguished, the follicles closed and the scalp is glazed and shiny. It gets its name from the fact that it grew hair in 93 out of 100 cases, where it received a thoroughly hard, impartial, and practical test.

We want you to try Rexall "93" Hair Tonic at our risk. You surely cannot lose anything by doing so, while you have everything to gain. You had better think this over and then come in and see us about this offer. You will be well repaid for your visit to our store. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, Lytle's Drug Store, Corner Third and Main streets.

ABRAM GONZALES

Governor of Chihuahua Faces Serious Revolt in His State.

DECLINED OFFICE

General Orozco Put Aside the Governorship of Chihuahua.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 9.—Pasqual Orozco refused the governorship of Chihuahua after the state legislature had selected him, but he protests his loyalty to Madero and is said to have declined the governorship partially because the state legislature declined to endorse Madero; also because he believed the constitutional governor, Abram Gonzales, should first be given a chance to restore order or at least have some say in the matter.

Orozco is sending troops into the country west of Chihuahua to attempt to disperse the bands of armed men in the field in the name of Vasquez Gomez.

Prominent families are still fleeing from Chihuahua to El Paso, and Chinese throughout northern Mexico are fleeing to El Paso and Juarez, fearing a repetition of the slaughter that occurred in Torreon during the taking of the town by Maderistas a year ago.

INFORMATION ABOUT AN AUTHOR'S PROFIT

David Graham Phillips's Reward Not Excessive.

New York, Feb. 9.—She will probably receive as Mr. Phillips's sole heir not more than $13,000, says Mrs. Carolyn Frevert, sister of David Graham Phillips, the novelist, who was shot and killed by an insane man on Jan. 23, 1911. Mrs. Frevert made this estimate from statements furnished her by D. Appleton & Co., the publishers of most of her brother's works.

David Graham Phillips left no real estate, Mrs. Frevert said, and had less than $300 in the bank. His personal property consisted almost entirely of clothing and a few pieces of jewelry. The royalty value of "The Grain of Dust," published after its author's death, is given as $8,259. "The Husband's Story" is estimated at $1,667. "Joshua Craig" is valued at $1,677; "Hungry Heart," $542; "Old Wives for New," $69; "The Second Generation," $46; "The Worth of a Woman," $19, and "Light Fingers Gentry," $13. Mrs. Frevert said that the figures quoted were approximately correct.

"Mr. Phillips's income was not large at any time," she said. "His wants were moderate and he gave most of what he made to me. He had nothing of his own, and you know how it is with publishers, they can never tell how a book is going to turn out."

Death of Dr. Huntington. Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 9.—Dr. D. W. C. Huntington, chancellor emeritus of Wesleyan university, is dead here of pneumonia, aged eighty-two years. SCHOOL BOND IS LOST NINE YEARS

Unusual Occurrence at Carthage When Forgotten Paper Turns up at Rockland, Maine.

OWNER WILL LOSE INTEREST

So Happened the Town Board Has Enough Money to Meet the Demand.

School house bond No. 7, after having been lost for nine years, has been heard from, says the Carthage Citizen. The bond was due nine years ago and at that time the local council deposited the money in the Chase National Bank, New York. At the expiration of two years, the money not having been called for it was returned and placed on deposit to the credit of Carthage as a reserve in case the bond should be presented. Two years ago when the town treasury was depleted during the smallpox seige, this money was used.

A few days ago J. A. Lineback, the town clerk and treasurer, received notice from a Savings Bank at Rockland, Maine, that the bond had been presented to the Chase Bank, and by it referred to Carthage. The owner will lose interest for nine years, but is lucky to have presented the bond now as at the end of ten years its payment would have been optional with our council. The board is well prepared to meet the claim at this time, yet the unexpected expenditure will interfere with other plans.

At the regular meeting of the town council this week W. L. Walker, R. E. Henley and J. A. Lineback were named as a committee to investigate and pay the bond if it be found to be a true claim.

Capt. Cook Makes Report on Salvation Army's Work.

Shelbyville Chapter, Installed by Local Boys, Ordered to Disband.

During the months of December and January the local Salvation Army has supplied needy families with food and fuel valued at $75.28, besides flour and canned fruit which was donated, according to a report made public today. Extra meals have been given to two hundred men and are valued at $30.15. Fifty pairs of shoes have been given to men, 922 garments have been given away and fifty men have been supplied with beds for a night. Capt. Cook says the Army still has calls for help and anything donated will be appreciated.

The Shelbyville chapter of the Phi Delta Kappa fraternity, which was installed by the members of the local chapter of the same fraternity two or three weeks ago, had a very short life, as this week the Shelbyville school board placed a ban on fraternities in the Shelbyville high school. Eight of the members at Shelbyville are high school students. The board made it mandatory, that the members give up their fraternity or school. They have acquiesced, but have demanded that the school board order all other clubs and organizations among high school students to cease operations.

were re-employed as attorneys for the town of Carthage for the ensuing year. R. E. Henley, president of the board, appointed Irvin M. Hill, Alonzo Kiser and Jesse Siler as a committee to investigate and consult with others regarding the placing of a number of large cisterns, as water is the first essential in fighting fire.
